

PRESS RELEASE

INTERNATIONAL GARDEN PHOTOGRAPHER OF THE YEAR CALL FOR ENTRIES

Don't miss the chance to be part of this prestigious competition and exhibition!

Over the past three years, numerous Botanic Gardens from around the world have been featured in the entries we receive for the International Garden Photographer of the Year competition. We would love to see more again this year.

We would greatly appreciate your help in promoting the fourth annual IGPTY competition to the Friends and visitors of your Botanic Garden - on your website or in your magazine / newsletter. Alternatively we can post IGPTY promotional material to you for distribution to your visitors and maybe your Botanic Garden will be featured in one of IGPTY's winning photographs!

Some of last year's winners featured the following gardens...

Jardín Botánico Wilson, Costa Rica.

Akashi Botanical Gardens, Japan.

La Concepción Historical-Botanical Gardens, Malaga, Spain.

Botanical Garden of Berlin, Germany.

Oxford Botanical Gardens, England

There are six categories in the fourth competition, with awards for single images as well as portfolios. There is a special award for the image that best portrays the 'Spirit of the American Garden'. Deadline – 30 November 2010.

For more information and to enter visit www.igpoty.com

Notes to Editors

Please contact Mary Denton at press@igpoty.com or ph: +44 (0)1295 712288:

- To request a delivery of IGPTY leaflets to distribute to visitors
- For further press information and/or inspirational high resolution images.
- High-quality material on garden photography from leading photographers will be gratefully supplied in return for promotion of the IGPTY competition.

The closing date for submissions for the third IGPTY competition is November 30 2010. Entries should be made online at www.igpoty.com